

Parental Involvement

Parental Involvement is crucial to a child's successful development. All too often, when a child is not succeeding in school, a negative or adversarial role develops between the school and the parent. Woodland Hall Academy's philosophy and practice is to develop a positive, trusting relationship between parent and school so that the child's progress can be maximized.

Parents are encouraged to:

- Observe their children in school
- Work closely with staff in problem solving
- Volunteer and be active in Student Activities

Parents learn more about their child's uniqueness through:

- Workshops presented by the staff on areas of dyslexia, nutrition, behavior, and education
- Individual meetings with staff to develop behavioral plans and to reinforce behaviors for their child
- Regularly scheduled appointments to discuss progress reports and test results

Parents are expected to:

- Support the school in areas of behavior and nutrition
- Attend Workshops and Seminars at the school
- Agree to the Code of Conduct for their child
- Attend Parent/Administrative meetings
- Volunteer at the school
- Fulfill all contractual agreements

The Administration commits to:

- Provide regular reports concerning each student's progress
- Maintain consistency in discipline and behavioral plans
- Establish a positive learning and emotional environment for the child
- Solve problems in a pro-active manner
- Fulfill all contractual agreements
